Donna Riggle reported from the Buffalo Creek Watershed Association – They receive no funding from the Local Share Account for the Dutch Fork Lake restoration project. The engineering study has been completed. They will be ready for bids to be requested sometime in February. There is still a need for somewhere between $1.5 and 2.2 Million in funding. An account has been setup for the Washington County Watershed Alliance. If you make a donation, the check should be made to the Alliance with annotation of Dutch Fork Lake Restoration. The original funds must be spent by 2012. No further information is available on the Range Resources contributions due to lack of an agreement on use of the
